SUMMITLIVE365 INTEGRATED WITH OHIO EVENTFINDER

AKRON, OH – Oct 2, 2018 – To continue its efforts to support arts and culture organizations across Summit County, ArtsNow has integrated its website, SummitLive365.com with popular platform OhioEventFinder.com.

SummitLive365 launched in October of 2015 as a service of ArtsNow and is a unique forum that serves as a robust arts and culture event calendar for the county and a portal for artists, performers, venues, and organizations to seek out and feature their talents.

SummitLive365 is free to use and is home to everything from family-friendly events to individual artists sharing their work—and naturally aligns with its new partner, Ohio EventFinder.

Ohio EventFinder is also a free online database of arts and cultural events and serves the entire state of Ohio to feed various state and regional event calendars, including Ohio.org, ArtsinOhio.com and Ohio Magazine.

This integration means that organizations who already enter their events on SummitLive365's platform will now be able to automatically transfer their events to the Ohio EventFinder without having to re-enter all of the event and ticketing information, ultimately reaching a broader demographic of potential event attendees.

“SummitLive365 houses thousands of events happening around Summit County,” shares Nicole Mullet, Executive Director of ArtsNow. “With partners like Ohio EventFinder we’re hoping to bring a new audience of art and culture fans to Summit County, while highlighting our current in a deeper and more impactful way.”
